

Senior IT Developer Role

Ecctis Limited is the UK's National Agency responsible for providing information and expert advice on international qualifications and skills.

We are looking for an experienced developer to join our IT team in a dynamic and expanding business.

This is a fast paced, technical role in a friendly environment. As part of the IT team, you will provide key developmental support to the business; work with internal and external clients to design and implement technical solutions; and front-line technical support for all staff.

Responsibilities:

1. Design and development

To work with our developers on essential projects driven by our dynamic and expanding business needs and maintaining our bespoke in-house systems and external systems.

2. Programming support and guidance

Delivering and ensuring high quality technical and programming skills in ASP.Net, CSS, C#, JavaScript, SQL and adopting new languages and frameworks where appropriate.

3. Database development and data analysis

Designing and outputting internal reporting solutions to meet business requirements, understanding client requirements and creating accurate data extracts to specification.

Applicant requirements

- Proven knowledge and experience of understanding user requirements
- HTML, CSS, ASP, .NET, C#, OOP, JavaScript, AJAX and W3C
- Excellent team working skills
- Excellent communication and customer service skills
- Experience of working in a technical role within a busy office-based environment
- Flexible and adaptable with a proactive and positive attitude
- Professional, courteous manner
- Ability to thrive and remain calm, polite and patient in high-pressure situations

Salary : £35,000 - £40,000 dependent upon experience

Benefits

- 25 days paid annual leave plus Bank Holidays
- Company Pension scheme; the Company will match employee contributions up to a maximum of 6% of basic salary in the first year. Then the scheme becomes non-contributory with employer contributions of 10% leading to 20% based on years' service.
- Life assurance of 3 x basic salary for members of the pension scheme
- Bupa Private Health Care Scheme with employee contribution
- Employee Assistance Programme

Office Location:

We are currently working remotely however, when Government guidelines allow us to return, this role will be office-based in Cheltenham.
